Cadet Program Survey

Starting next month, Civil Air Patrol will invite selected senior members, cadets, and parents to participate in a survey regarding the Cadet Program. The following information is provided by Curt Lafond, the National Director of Cadet Programs:

Here are some basic facts about the 2017 Civil Air Patrol Cadet Survey:

Survey Title: 2017 Civil Air Patrol Cadet Survey

Purpose of Survey: To evaluate the performance of the Cadet Encampment Assistance Program, justify further Air Force support of encampments, and generally improve the Cadet Program.

Method: A representative sample of CAP senior members, cadets aged 13 and over, and cadet parents will be invited to participate via an email being sent in early December. This is a change from previous surveys, which were sent to all cadets and parents. This sampling process provides a more representative picture of our membership.

Senior members, cadets, and parents will each receive a different version of the survey, with questions designed to be relevant to their CAP role.

Opt-In Status: No one is required to participate in the survey; it's completely voluntary.

Survey Design: Researchers at the RAND Corporation, one of America's most prestigious think tanks, developed the initial survey for CAP. The survey has been maintained by members of the National Cadet Team trained in social science research and survey design.

Confidentiality: Only CAP National Headquarters personnel will have access to survey data. CAP will not share the collected data with outside agencies, except as provided for in law or by CAP regulation. All results will be presented in aggregate, never on the basis of an individual's responses, and will be used to communicate the worth of the encampment program to the Air Force and public, and to improve the Cadet Program.

Legal Compliance: The Children's Online Privacy Protection Act regulates how organizations collect information from youth under age 13. In order to prevent non-compliance issues, CAP is only surveying cadets aged 13 and older.

Interested parties may find more information and review the questions (currently being finalized) at www.capmembers.com/cadetsurvey.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about this survey.
